BALLET INSTRUCTOR

CHLOE THORNE is a 20-year-old dance major at Brenau University, currently studying with a concentration in modern dance and pre-physical therapy. Her education has led her to many locations through the years, such as Nashville Ballet, Central Pennsylvania Youth Ballet, and Joffrey Ballet School NYC. Thorne started her dance education with Morgantown Ballet Company, where she learned a strong technical basis in ballet and classical Giordano Jazz. She also began her choreographic explorations at this time by participating in the Young Choreographers Initiative. In 2020 and 2021, she had the opportunity to be a year-round trainee with Joffrey Ballet School Texas, where she had the privilege of studying various styles and techniques such as Graham, Horton, street jazz, and contemporary ballet. Now at Brenau University, she has continued her education in choreography with her 2023 pieces, “Inalienable” and “Vamp.” She is excited to continue her education in modern dance this summer at the Bate’ Dance Festival Professional Training Program.
